Application Developer Job Description Template

We are looking for a dedicated Application Developer to work with customers to develop new software applications, update and modify existing applications. The Application Developer should be able to identify the needs of users and produce methods to meet those needs, design prototypes for applications to deliver to clients and further develop applications based on feedback and troubleshoot any problems that arise during development or testing.

To be successful as an Application Developer, you should have excellent analytical skills and strong coding abilities with a verity of languages and technologies in order to implement client wishes into their application.

Key Responsibilities:

- Developing software solutions to meet the needs and expectations of clients
- Creating and implementing new features into new or existing applications
- Testing and debugging code
- Evaluate existing applications and perform any updates or modifications required
- Developing technical handbooks

Personal Specification:

- Degree in Computer Science or similar fields
- Knowledge of various programming languages such as Java and ORACLE
- Experience in commercial application and software development environments
- Knowledge of software design and programming principles
- Good problem-solving skills
- Good communication skills and the ability to explain complex technical issues and processes to clients